The Editors Corner

Welcome to the month of May 2024. its unbelievable that the year is almost half gone. April was a good month for Zimbabweans who celebrated 44 years of independent rule from the white Smith regime. It was a hard fought for independence and 44 years later, the country is good for others and bad for others. Ministering to some ladies, I said that the goodness of the land is enjoyed by those who speak and appreciate the goodness of the land of Zimbabwe well. And those who are having it bad have gotten into a bad habit of complaining about the land, and the land only responds with the same energy that the mouth is emitting. (we of course excuse the poor and marginalised who need government assistance on social and economic justice related issues) The poor we will always have them Jesus said. And he who helps the poor lends to God. In this magazine we are not the poor.

"Show me your mouth and I will show you, your life" The tongue small as it is can build a good life or destroy a good life or build a bad life or destroy a bad life. The choice is yours. There are people in Zimbabwe with a good life, and those with a bad life. A good life starts with contentment, which is appreciating and enjoying the present moment.

Today start practising appreciating and being content with the land of Zimbabwe, instead of complaining think of one thing your are grateful about the country of Zimbabwe, for example I can say that I am grateful that in Zimbabwe if I think of starting a business today, there are no restrictions, I have my Honda Fit, if I want to start a transport business I take my Honda Fit and just start, if I meet the police I give them 5usd and I continue with my business. (And for that I am grateful to ED).

Tomorrow if you think of complaining about something again, think of two things that you are grateful about our land Zimbabwe, for example I would say that I am grateful that in Zimbabwe there is plenty sunshine and I have more than enough Vitamin D. The following day think of 3 things that you are grateful about Zimbabwe, like for example I would say that there is abundant healthy organic food such as Inyawuthi (millet) wild healthy fruits (umyiyi, umqokolo, umtshwankela, etc), because Zimbabwean farmers cannot afford fertilisers. I am grateful for healthy herbs that are free like Zumbami that saved many of us from covid. I am grateful that I can freely pray in Zimbabwe (except in NGO meetings that take money from the anti-Christ donors who don't allow prayer).

The following day think of 4 things to be grateful about Zimbabwe; such as that we have Ubuntu, I am grateful to be surrounded by people with Ubuntu and hardworking. People who make the best jokes out of the worst situations. Zimbabwe has got the most beautiful mountains, lakes, landscapes like in Chiredzi where there are 100 year old trees. We are free to walk in the streets safely, Our children are free to play in the streets in fresh air

Make a point to be intentionally grateful about being a Zimbabwean and being in Zimbabwe.

Happy Independence

About our Cover Picture

This month we celebrate ZITF 2024 and the cover is taken from a picture from one of the ZITF stands of Tertiary Institutions. Tertiary Institutions in Zimbabwe have become very innovative. They have become business entities. I know a lot of us in Zimbabwe have not got the memo that Zimbabwe will be great again. As I walked around the ZITF Tertiary Institutions exhibition, I noticed that the stands are no longer about what courses they offer. But its about the businesses that the students are doing which include great textile designs like our cover.

Some are making indigenous fruit juices, yoghurts, etc. Some universities have hotels conceptualised and directed by students. Some are manufacturing protective clothing. Of course the students do not get paid but learn real life business running skills which they use when they graduate. The universities themselves have learnt to be self sustaining the hard way, because the central government does not give them the funding they need they have learnt to start and run businesses that are managed by the free labour of students. Instead of them mourning about the situation they have turned the situation around and its win win situation for both the universities and the students. I loved what I saw at ZITF 2024.

Looking at those Ntolwane Cookies I thought its such a brilliant idea, women are encouraged to take Ntolwane to avoid Ngubhane, what a better way to take it in as a biscuit instead of a powder which used to be misconstrued as a zwana mina muti.

Be Still and Know That I Am God

This month for me because of being in the BnB industry has been all about ZITF 2024. I started the ZITF chronicles in 2017, 2018, 2019 and 2020 there was no ZITF due to Covid, then there was 2021 where it was in September 2021, then 2022, then 2023. All the years after each ZITF I grew taller with lessons. 2023 ended with me at the central police station after a guest who had booked one of my BnBs decided to cancel and wanted his money back and I had not written a no refund contract so I had to refund him after keeping the place for him.

When 2024 came I just told my team that this year our ZITF Theme is "Be Still and know that I am God" Psalm 46 vs 10.

By January 2024 enquiries were coming in and by February a guest had paid us in full for our main Guest house. We took that money and got a 3-bed place CabinVillas. The money was not enough for the renovations and furnishings so we were scrounging to finish. By God's grace we finished. But we were deep in debt and I didn't know how to get out. But I held on the theme of "Be Still and know that I am God". ZITF came the guests who had paid checked in, but we had zero of their money, so for breakfast I was thinking who to borrow from. But the guests were Chinese and said all they want is a kitchen to cook their own meals. I said thank God when I had those news from Edith. My new place was booked but then the guests when they came they decided they didn't like it, I had to take them to another Bulawayo Airbnb guest house which was not mine, which means I had to pay the gogo who owned it and I did not have the money, and the gogo was merciless. I gave her 3/4s of the payment and I was owing her 402usd, she was calling me every 5 minutes and threatening to throw out the guests. Meanwhile other old ladies who had listed their homes for ZITF were sending polite messages of "Noma where the guests at w..., you made us buy new linen, put solar backups, etc..."

I encouraged myself in the Lord, I kept meditating on the theme, "Be still and know that I am God" and the other one "I will lift mine eyes unto the hills, From whence cometh my help. My help comes from the Lord...." Psalm 121 vs 1-2. I kept saying ZITF is ending with a smile on my face. But I did not even know how that smile was going to be. My 3 new rooms at CabinVillas were empty and the room prices had gone down from 150usd a night to less than 50usd a night as the supply of rooms was exceeding demand, due to many new entrants. I kept on meditating and saying to my team our theme this ZITF is, "Be still and know that I am God". And the good neighbour was still hot on my trail, and I had other debts owing to service providers, plumber, carpenter, electrician but at least they were not demanding them they were all waiting for end of ZITF they were patient unlike the good neighbour. Then on ZITF Wednesday I was visiting my sick mother at Materdei Hospital, when a guest who had requested 30 rooms for ZITF called and said they are on their way. I started messaging people who had listed their homes on Bulawayo Airbnb to get ready and I still had my 3 rooms, at the new CabinVillas, it was showtime at Bulawayo Airbnb. I looked up to heaven and said to myself this can only be God. Meanwhile at the main guest house the Chinese decided to extend their stay by two days in order to attend the official opening on the closing day. And I said to myself this is, "...him that is able to do exceeding, abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us, unto him be the glory.." . God came through for me on ZITF 2024, not by might but by his grace. I did absolutely nothing in mine own power, (because in between word meditations I was having conversations with demons who were reminding me that ZITF ends at monthend, with bills of salaries, rentals, etc.) it was all our loving God.

Be Still and Know That I am God. Today I am still and I know that he is God.

One Week in April by Nomalanga Ncube

In the City of Kings and Queens of Bulawayo koNthuthu, my beautiful hometown during the last of week of April all people of Zimbabwe come to spend a lot money during ZITF. Last year the President of Zimbabwe during his campaign said “..those with nothing to raise during ZITF must raise their trousers” but he said it in broken Ndebele “abangela lutho loku-khweza kabakhweze amabrugwe..”

Yes money comes to Bulawayo One Week in April. The prepared get their bags full. The unprepared it's the business of mourning as usual, we will not join them. Back to the prepared. It is said “when opportunity meets preparation history is made”

So who made history during the One Week in April 2024. The first bag that gets full is that of ZITF, the Exhibition Stands start from +/- 1500usd. That's the cheapest of the cheapest. The second group of people that get their bags full during the One Week in April is the Hotels, Lodges, BnBs that house the exhibitors. The big hotels such as Bulawayo Rainbow and Holiday Inn set the tone for bag filling with their charges of up 700usd a night per room. The other zero star hotels and big lodges charges start from 300usd a night, the low cost lodges such Harris Continental 150usd a night. The BnBs mshika mshikas WG Guest Villas and its Bulawayo Airbnb affiliates were collecting 120 to 150usd a night. These prices are stable from January to end of March to mid April.

When the big One Week in April approaches the unprepared start entering the market, and supply begins to exceed demand and price goes down to 50 - 80usd but the prepared will have filled their bags already. This year I did my civic women empowerment duty and helped other women and a few man prepare their homes / BnBs for ZITF 2024

Others that fill their bags during the One Week in April include the Food and Beverage industry. The sex work industry also records a boom as the Bulawayo yellow bones raise their nightly rates for the mbingas from Harare with bottomless wallets.

The transport industry also records high sales especially taxes and car hire places. Residents hire out their cars and sacrifice walking. I must say that this one week in April I found myself as a luxury car driver ferrying these Arabs from a BnB to the ZITF daily I made over half a thousand and not bad for Thuma Mina, she managed to raise her own money for service and insurance.

This One Week in April will be there again next year, but preparations must start now, preparations that start in April don't yield much results. I will now give practical examples to illustrate the advantages of an early start.

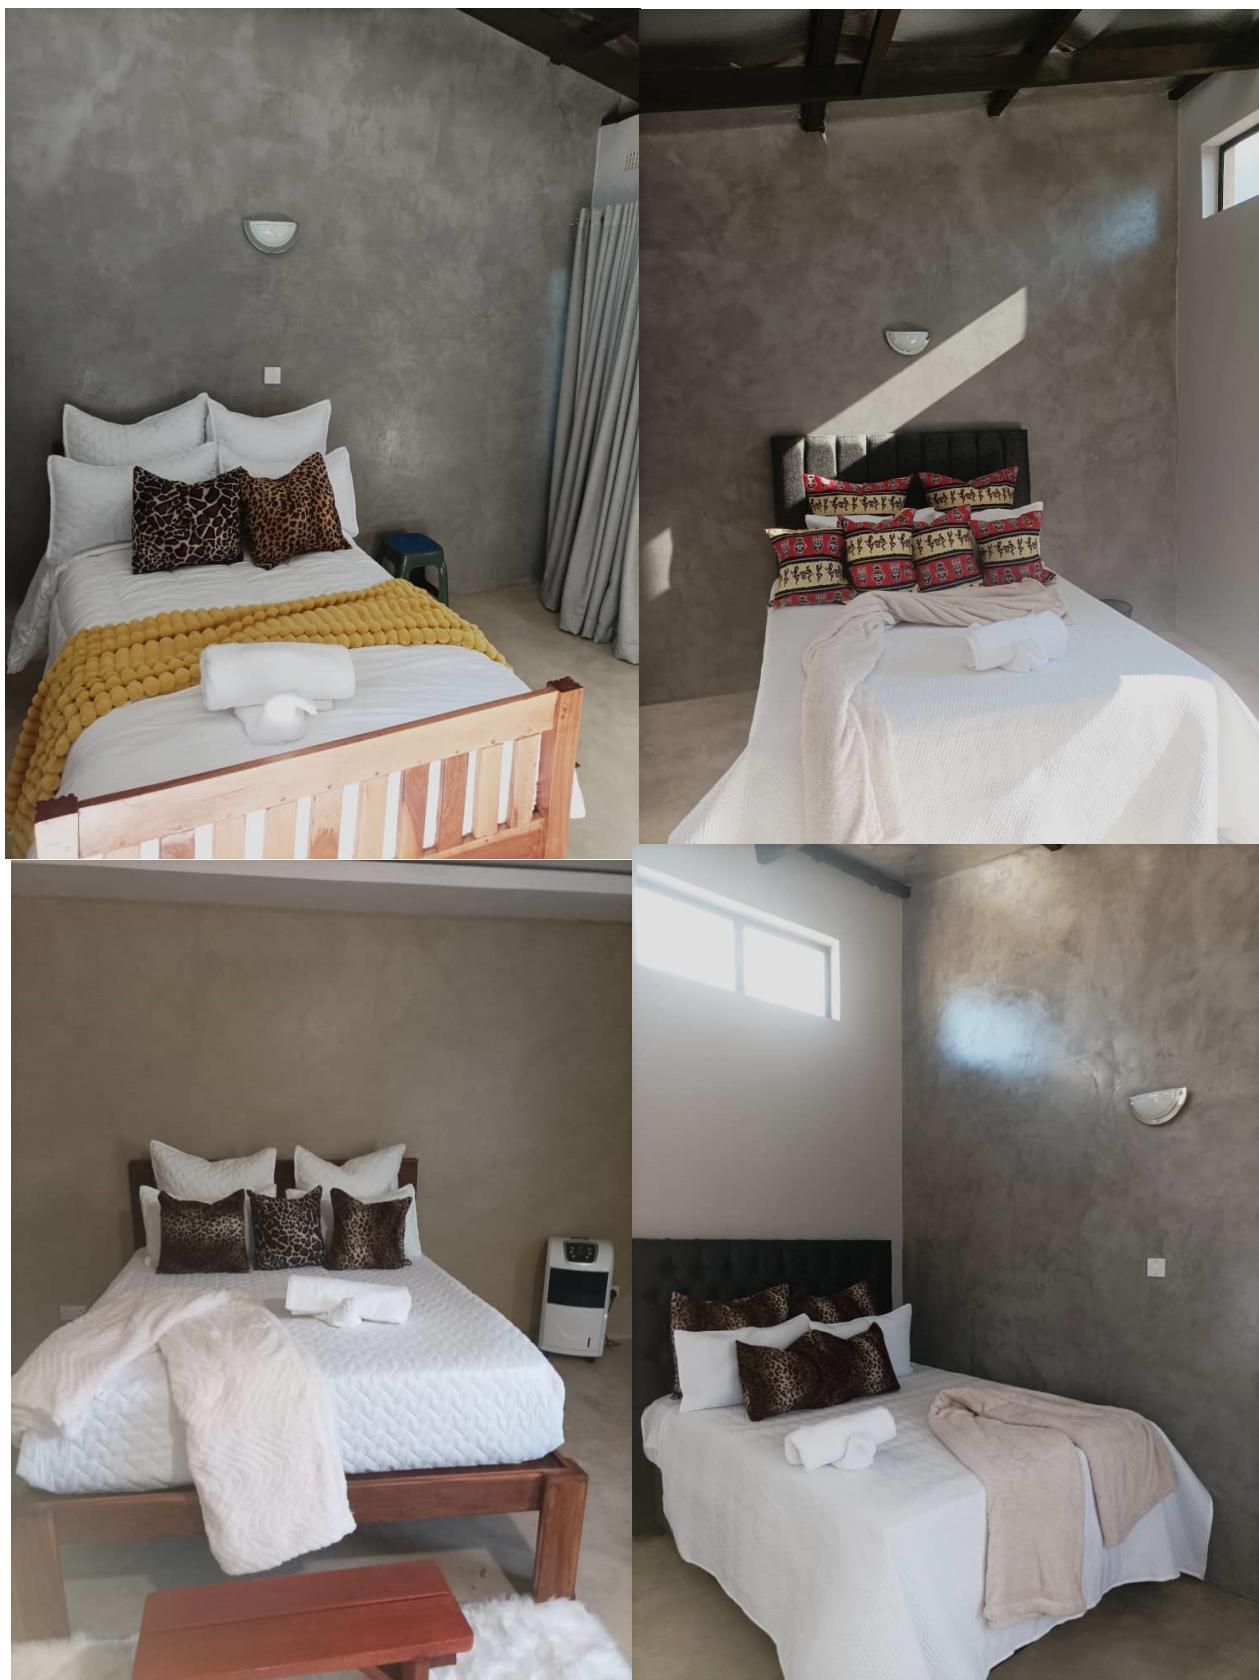

First a little WG Guest Villas history, 2017, It was my first ZITF as a BnB owner, I had no idea that I was supposed to raise prices, I got a call from a lady working at Continental Hotel with some guests, “How much are your rooms, I said 50usd, she said, great I am bringing you some guests, she brings them charges them 120usd they give it to me 120 x 2 people x 6 nights, and the Continental girls says when the guests were in their rooms. “....noma take your 50usd a night and give me my change..” I was so happy because I was sitting at home with no plan and she brought a plan to me.

In 2018—to date I started doing my own marketing and further networking and by 2023 by the grace of God was a little grown up, had overflows started Bulawayo Airbnb were I get guests and collect 10% commission. I also started Masterclasses in 2024 of how to start and set up a BnB, I worked with a few BnBs, some did very well and were smiling at the end of the week while others who did now want to put in the investment of improving their interiors had their rooms rejected by guests. Of course there are others who don't know how to smile who are still complaining about being paid in zig.

One week in April cont.—Kwa Gumpo Village

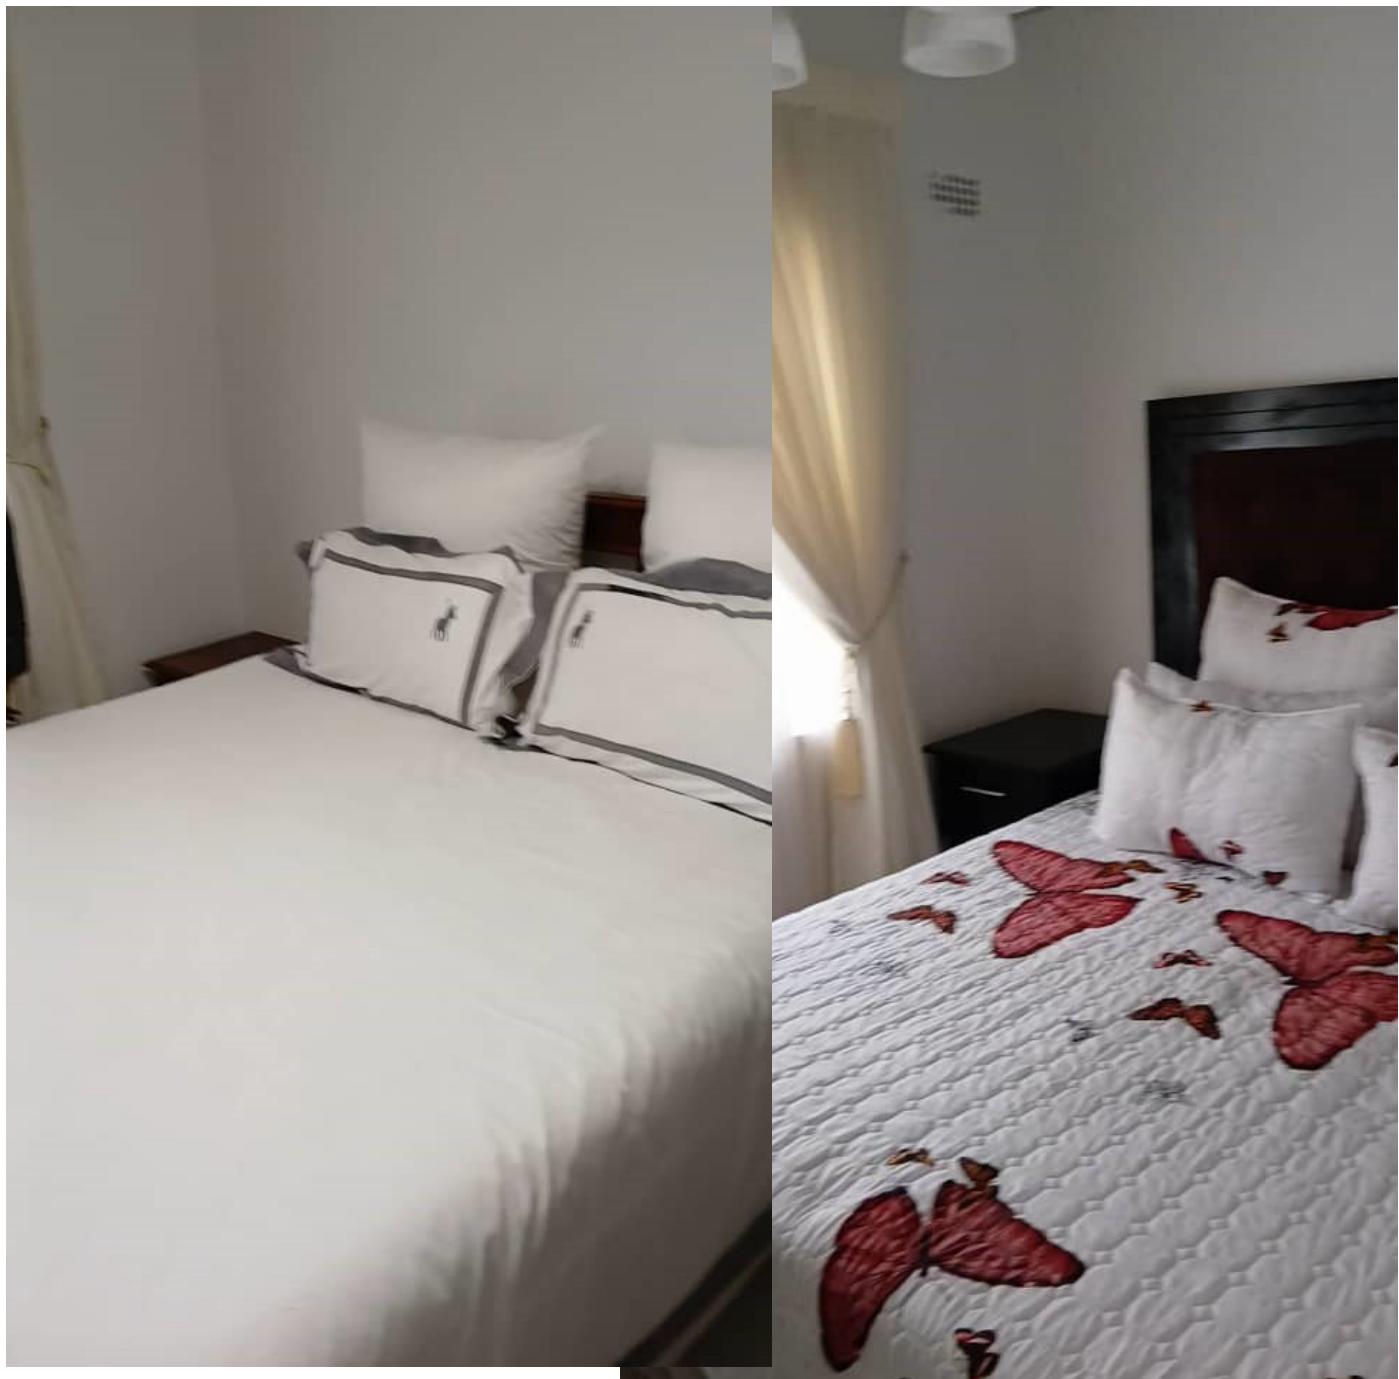

This is one of the prepared, they approached us in December 2023. We helped them set-up with our superior skills of home décor, and by February 2024 their 6 beautiful rustic African themed rooms were fully booked by a major corporate. Of course by the time the One Week in April came they had emptied the bag. Hats up to them they put WiFi, etc. Below are some pictures of the beautiful Kwa Gumpo village situated in the heart of the leafy suburb of Burnside.

One Week in April cont. - No Name Cottage

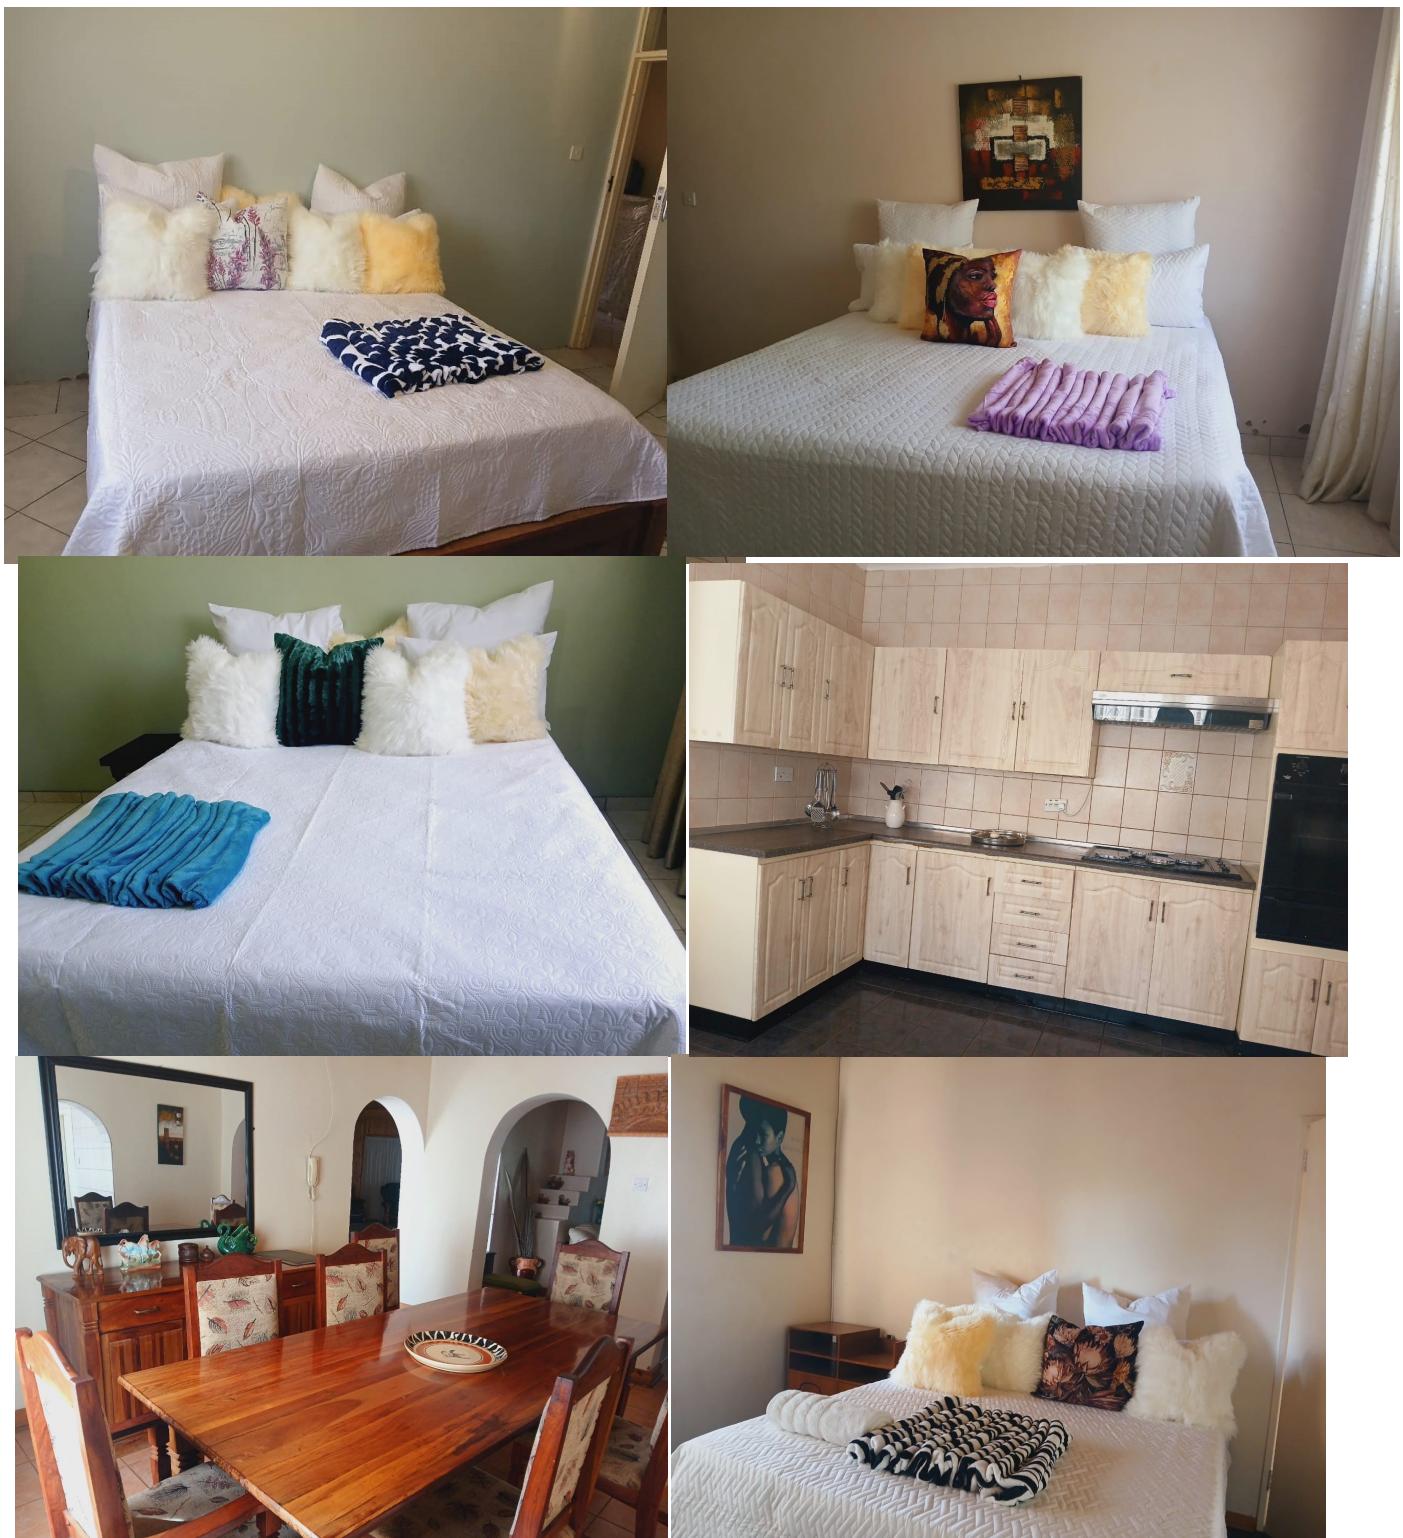

This is a beautiful 2 bedroom cottage in Parklands, we started working with this lady in 2018-19, she lets out her beautiful cottage only during ZITF. Her place is beautiful and its sells itself with its spotless cleanliness. This place was booked and paid for by mid March. This lady is always prepared she is generally a very organised person and because when opportunity meets preparation history is made. She has been recording full house fully booked since she started with us before we had no name and no charge. This year we informed all the ladies that we are now Bulawayo Airbnb we charge 10% commission and they were all happy to work with us.

Below are the pictures are of the bedrooms in the cottage;

This one has been a member of Bulawayo Airbnb since 2018, their guest house has improved a lot in the last few years, this year they managed to buy white linen and with the help of our décor team got their rooms trade fair ready. We got a booking from a government department that paid in zig, and they were not amused. They shouted at us and are still doing so, but it comes with the job as long as Bulawayo Airbnb gets its commission we put up with them. It's a beautiful 5 bedroom guest house in the heart of Parklands 2 of which are En-suite and two outside bathrooms. Solar backup, aircon, self catering, beautiful garden. The rooms are all colour themed and super clean.

One week in April ; KoNsingo Guest House

KoNsingo Guest House joined Bulawayo Airbnb in mid April to experience One Week in April. They are based out of the country and decided to furnish at least two rooms of their well built 5 bedroom house. Our décor team did a spending job transforming their rooms into being ZITF ready. It is situated in Killarney with 2 bedrooms a self catering kitchen.

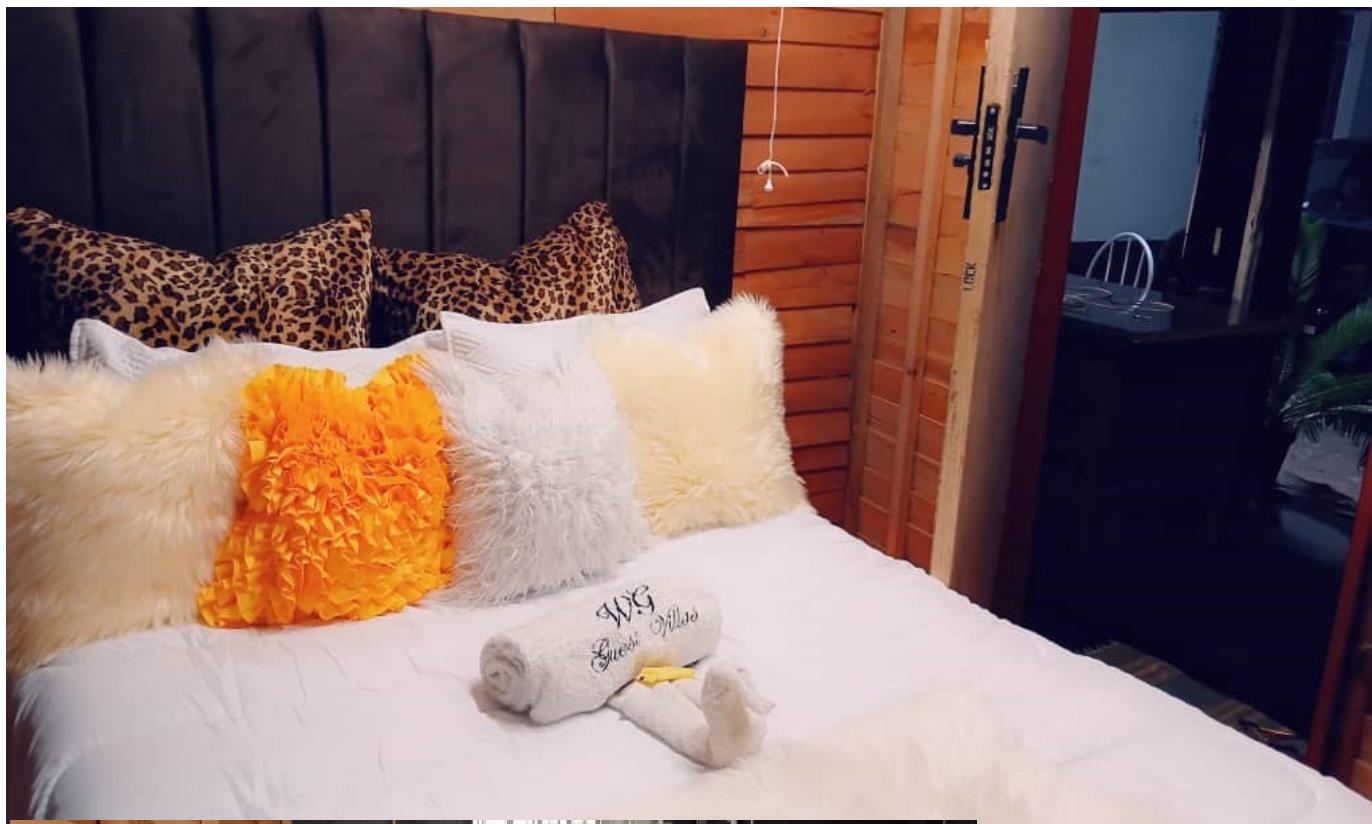

One Week in April; KoMaNdebele Guest House

This is a new baby at Bulawayo Airbnb, the owners are based in UK and we manage their place for them. It was a coincidence that they were there during the One Week in April and they experienced a day in the life of a BnB Host. They had to sleep in the garage to make way for guests who were paying 150usd a night a room. It's a beautiful house the interior designers did a good job that makes our job of interior decorating much easier. The house is available for booking throughout the year.

One week in April - WG CabinVillas

This is part of the innovative ideas of creating space which paid off during the One Week in April. Come next year CabinVillas will have grown to 30 rooms. This is a prophetic declaration to be testified in the year 2025 One Week in April.

In Conclusion, please start preparing yourself for the One Week in April, next year. Start now, think about a service you can offer to the corporates that will surely throng Bulawayo without fail next year at this time, during the last week of April.

If you want to get into the BnB industry, please get in touch with us at Bulawayo Airbnb, we will help you with all things home décor and all things BnB. Contact us on 0718659605 / 0772346200 or email nomancube@gmail.com

Book summary: Take the Risk by Dr Ben Carson

Article by Kudzai Ncube

INTRODUCTION

Dr Ben Carson has faced countless risky situations in his life, as a child growing up in poverty and as an adult in working and being one of the best in the field of neurosurgery. Innovation and progress in technology and the arts was made by those people who did not fear risk taking, It is then obvious that if anyone wants to achieve success, He/she should take risks. Dr Carson outlines the disadvantages of not taking risks and how to make the right decisions when facing a risky situation. There are people who sadly are so afraid to take any risk that they never actually manage to do anything of true significance in their lives, then there are those individuals who take all the wrong risks and tragically end up hurting or destroying themselves or others in the process. Lives are ruined either way, and both groups fail to reach their potential. They never discover or enjoy the true purpose for which God placed them on earth.

Best/Worse Analysis

Whenever Dr Carson faces a hard decision or a risky situation in life (personally or professionally), all his thinking, all his analysis, all his planning can be summarised to four simple questions:

- 1.What is the best thing that can happen if I do this?
2. What is the worst thing that can happen if I do this?
- 3.What is the best thing that can happen if I don't do it?
- 4.What is the worst thing that can happen if I don't do it?

Even when the Best/Worse Analysis doesn't result in a particularly positive outcome, you are unlikely to have a worse outcome because you did the analysis, and what a B/WA does guarantee is that you consider the various possibilities in a reasonable, logical manner before making any uncertain or risky decision. That has to improve the odds that you come up with a happy solution—or at least with a reasonable and defensible course of action that will minimize the risk of regrets.

If you answer these four questions but the path to take still seems unclear, Ben Carson offers a few more questions that help in further analysing the risky situation. These questions are to be answered in the context of the Best/Worse analysis. Below are the questions.

- A. Who will be affected?
- B. How will the person be affected?
- C. When will they be affected?
- D. What do you need to know about the risky situation?
- E. Why are you motivated to take the risk?
- F. Where are you now in terms of skills, abilities, attitudes and where are going i.e what are your goals?

Conclusion

In life we are all at risk one way or the other, no matter what our jobs or businesses are we will know risk. We have to use our brains to decide which ones are acceptable and how to approach them. And a careful Best/Worst Analysis is always a good place to start.

We can complain about the dangers we face or ignore them or even allow ourselves to be paralyzed by fear or we can ask ourselves, do we have a brain? Then let's use this incredible tool God has given us to assess the risks that we face every day. We have the means to analyse risks and decide which are worth taking and which should be avoided. Do you have a brain? Then use it.

WHO WAS J.P MORGAN ?

The Titan Who Revolutionized Finance: How ?

J.P. Morgan Forged the Path to Our Modern Economy

By Thando Ndlovu

In the late 19th century, as the United States was rapidly industrializing and emerging as a global economic power, one man stood at the center of it all - John Pierpont Morgan, the legendary financier whose name is synonymous with the very foundations of modern finance.

Born into a prominent banking family in 1837, J.P. Morgan did not simply inherit his success, but rather built an unparalleled legacy through his unrelenting vision, unwavering resolve, and transformative impact on the financial landscape. From humble beginnings, he would go on to shape the trajectory of American capitalism in ways that continue to reverberate to this day.

At a time when the nation's economic growth was hampered by a fragmented banking system and chronic financial instability, Morgan recognized the pressing need for centralized control and coordination. With his keen intellect, commanding presence, and sheer force of will, he set out to establish a new financial order - one that could provide the stability and resources required to fuel the country's explosive industrial expansion.

Through a series of bold mergers and acquisitions, Morgan consolidated the nation's disparate financial institutions into a cohesive, interconnected system. His creation of banking conglomerates like J.P. Morgan & Co. and the U.S. Steel Corporation not only streamlined operations but also enabled the mobilization of vast sums of capital. This, in turn, fuelled the rapid growth of industries, the construction of critical infrastructure, and the birth of technological innovations that would transform the American economy.

But Morgan's impact extended far beyond the realm of finance. During the Panic of 1907, when a series of bank failures threatened to plunge the country into economic chaos, it was Morgan who stepped in, leveraging his immense influence and personal wealth to orchestrate a series of emergency bailouts. By restoring confidence in the financial system, he not only averted disaster but also highlighted the need for a centralized monetary authority - a realization that would eventually lead to the establishment of the Federal Reserve.

Throughout his illustrious career, Morgan's unwavering commitment to stability, efficiency, and progress earned him both ardent admirers and fierce critics. Yet, even those who questioned his methods could not deny the transformative impact of his vision and the indelible mark he left on the American financial landscape.

Today, as we navigate the complexities of a globalized, technology-driven economy, the legacy of J.P. Morgan continues to resonate. His pioneering spirit, innovative mindset, and unwavering determination stand as a testament to the power of bold leadership and the transformative potential of finance when harnessed for the greater good.

In an era of rapid change and uncertainty, the life and legacy of J.P. Morgan serves as a timeless inspiration - a reminder that with the right blend of vision, strategy, and execution, even the most daunting challenges can be overcome, and the course of history can be forever altered.

ENHANCED FOCUS AND CONCENTRATION

By Coach Wyne

Welcome to Elevate Insights, a success session dedicated to helping you unlock your full potential and achieve your goals. I'm Coach Wyne, a success and life philosophy coach, and I'm thrilled to delve into the topic of enhanced focus and concentration as a fruit of good time management.

Quotes:

- As Stephen Covey wisely said, "The key is not to prioritize what's on your schedule, but to schedule your priorities." This perfectly encapsulates the essence of setting clear goals and priorities as a fundamental aspect of good time management.
- Alexander Graham Bell's words resonate deeply with the concept of enhanced focus and concentration: "Concentrate all your thoughts upon the work in hand. The sun's rays do not burn until brought to a focus." This highlights the transformative power of undivided attention and mental clarity.
- Bruce Lee's insight that "The successful warrior is the average man, with laser-like focus" underscores the profound impact of enhanced focus on achieving extraordinary results, regardless of one's starting point.
- Winston S. Churchill's timeless wisdom, "You will never reach your destination if you stop and throw stones at every dog that barks," serves as a poignant reminder of the importance of eliminating distractions and staying focused on the path to success.

Key Terms:

- Enhanced Focus: Throughout this article, the concept of enhanced focus is explored as the ability to direct one's attention and energy towards a specific task or goal with heightened clarity and concentration. This aligns with the idea of "laser-like focus" and the transformative power of undivided attention.
- Concentration: The mental effort and discipline to stay attentive and focused on a particular task or objective, often characterized by the exclusion of distractions and the ability to maintain sustained attention. This term is woven into the discussion of eliminating distractions and implementing structured time blocks for focused work.

SWEET REWARDS

Setting Clear Goals and Priorities

One of the key elements of good time management is setting clear goals and priorities. When you have a clear understanding of what you want to achieve, it becomes easier to focus your time and energy on the tasks that truly matter. For example, imagine a student who sets a goal to improve their grades. By prioritizing their study time and allocating sufficient focus to their academic pursuits, they are able to achieve better results and enhance their overall concentration.

Eliminating Distractions

Effective time management involves identifying and eliminating distractions that can derail your focus. Whether it's the constant ping of notifications on your phone or the temptation to multitask, these distractions can hinder your ability to concentrate. Consider the example of a professional who decides to allocate specific blocks of time for focused work without any interruptions. By doing so, they are able to eliminate distractions and enhance their concentration, leading to increased productivity and better results.

Structured Time Blocks

Another aspect of good time management is the implementation of structured time blocks for different tasks. By allocating specific time frames for different activities, you can train your mind to focus on the task at hand without feeling overwhelmed by the demands of multiple responsibilities. For instance, a business owner who dedicates focused time blocks for strategic planning, client meetings, and creative brainstorming is able to enhance their focus and concentration in each area, leading to improved productivity and decision-making.

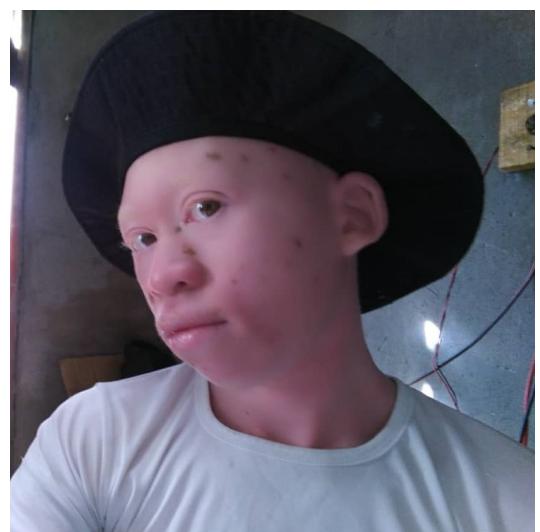

Mindfulness and Mental Clarity

Mindfulness practices, such as meditation and deep breathing exercises, can significantly contribute to enhanced focus and concentration. By incorporating mindfulness into your daily routine, you can cultivate mental clarity and strengthen your ability to stay focused on the present moment. Consider the example of an athlete who integrates mindfulness techniques into their training regime. Through the practice of mindfulness, they are able to sharpen their focus during competitions and maintain a high level of concentration, ultimately enhancing their performance.

In conclusion, good time management is not just about scheduling tasks and meeting deadlines; it is about harnessing the power of enhanced focus and concentration to maximize your potential. By setting clear goals, eliminating distractions, implementing structured time blocks, and practicing mindfulness, you can elevate your ability to concentrate and achieve greater success in all areas of your life. Remember, the journey to enhanced focus and concentration begins with the conscious decision to manage your time effectively and prioritize what truly matters. So, embrace the power of good time management, and watch as your focus and concentration soar to new heights.

Success Talk with Noma Airbnb Masterclass

Mathanda Guest House - Selbourne Park, Bulawayo

The Success Talk with Noma / Bulawayo Airbnb team struck a major deal to conduct a masterclass training to Mathanda Guest Lodge staff. The proprietor Alice built and designed the most beautiful guest lodge with out of this world architecture and interior décor, not forgetting the well manicured garden that greets you in its greenness as you enter. The Masterclass was super interactive and while we coached we also learnt so much from their experiences.

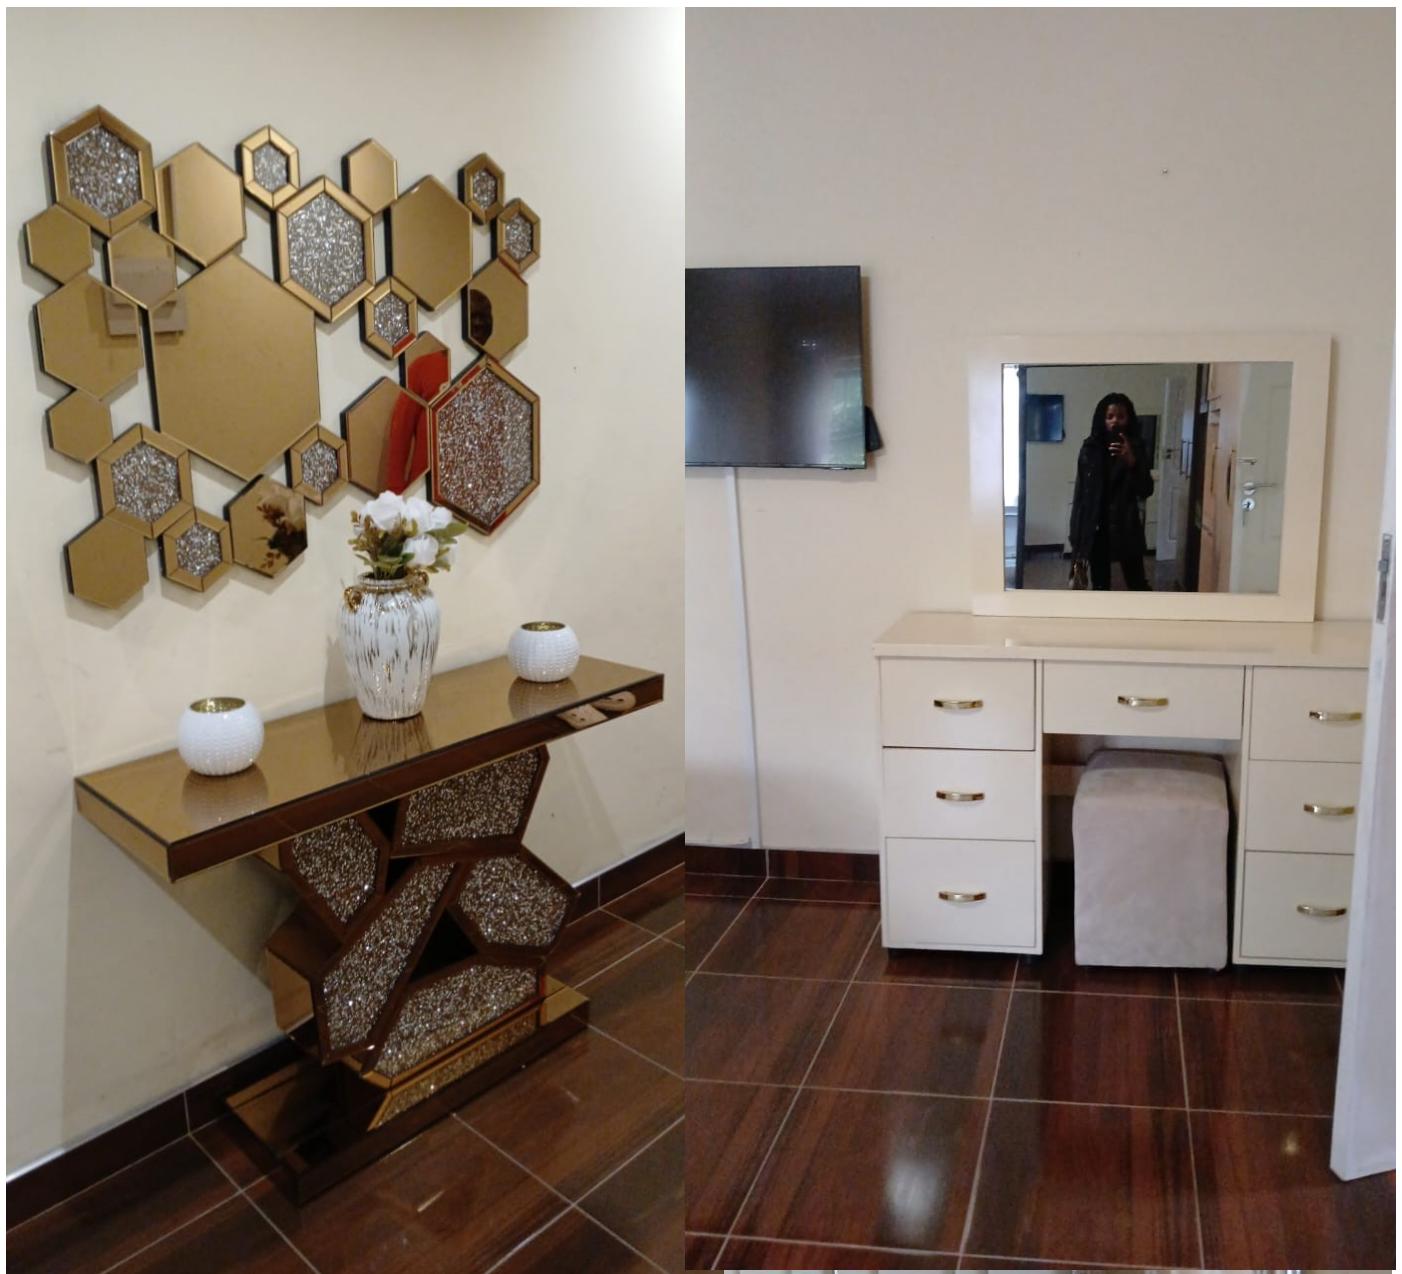

The Success Talk with Noma team included a Housekeeping Coach, a Spotless Cleaning Coach, a Social Media Marketing Coach, and Success Talk with Noma herself the queen of BnBs in Bulawayo.

During the month of April when we were touring guest houses for listing on Bulawayo Airbnb we caught up with Shy who has the cleanest BnB in Bulawayo, I urge you to challenge the statement and we can come and view. She also supplies liquid cobra and her floors are so beautiful and shiny. Success Talk with Noma urged her to start cleaning lessons for other BnBs and WG Guest Villas was the first to enrol into the classes and our floors have improved since that day. Beautiful BnBs in Bulawayo; Tari's Place

ZITF 2024 led us to the most beautiful places in Bulawayo. One of which is this beautiful flat in the Bulawayo CBD. The owner Tari is very organised and superclean. She got into the ZITF fever and cleaned off her baking office and put beds. I love her minimalistic décor. By the way she is Bulawayo Airbnb inspired and love how she is now deep into the BnB world, her side hustle.
